Israel Threatens More Retaliatory Strikes

By The Associated Press

Undeterred by mounting condemnation from all sides of its commando raid on the Beirut airport, Israel on Sunday promised further retaliation for Arab attacks.

Premier Levi Eshkol declared that Israel will defend itself against aggression "in the place where it is planned and carried out."

"States which make it possible for the terror organizations to organize and perpetrate acts of terror bear the responsibility for aggression, a responsibility which they cannot disclaim," he said.

Eshkol and Israel's ambassador to the United Nations, Shabtai Rosenne, said Saturday's raid was in retaliation for the Arab terrorist attack on an El Al airliner at Athens airport Thursday. Greek authorities are holding two Palestinian guerrillas who lived in Lebanon for the grenade and automatic rifle attack on the plane, which killed one Israeli passenger.

has been striving toward moderation in the Middle East."

Offer Aid

The U.N. Security Council met in urgent session Sunday night and appeared headed for a vote condemning Israel at another meeting tonight. U.S. Ambassador J.R. Wiggins told the council his government "strongly condemns the attack" and "is prepared to support prompt action by the Security Council to condemn this latest Israeli act."

In Washington, presidential assistant Walt W. Rostow reported that President Johnson considered the attack "serious and unwise." Rostow said the United States told Israel it is "a grave matter for regular forces of the government of Israel to attack a civil international airport in a country which raided, two Israeli jets flew over the airport to inspect the still-smoldering debris. Lebanese troops dived for cover, and the planes made two low passes and flew off unchallenged by antiaircraft batteries or fighter planes based 40 miles away.

Lebanon claimed the destroyed aircraft were worth more than $50 million, and Arab and Soviet bloc countries at the Security Council meeting demanded that Israel be required to pay compensation.

Basic Right

Soviet Ambassador Jacob A. Malik told the council that Israel also should be warned if it faced possible sanctions if it persists in what he called "flagrant aggressive acts." He chided the United States for condemning Israel while at the same time selling her Phantom jets.

Lebanon's U.N. representative, Edward Ghorra, noted that Israel has repeatedly defied U.N. resolutions of condemnation. He demanded that the Security Council take "effective measures under Chapter Seven" of the U.N. charter, which provides for economic, political and military action against countries breaching or threatening international peace.

The Israeli delegate told the council the attack on the Beirut airport was "taken to uphold Israel's basic right to free navigation in international skies. Its purpose was to show once again that Israel's rights on land and sea and in the air cannot be jeopardized with impunity."

In Tel Aviv, Eshkol said Israel has "no interest in worsening our relations with Lebanon." But he added: "We cannot accept the violation of air routes. This tactic adopted by our enemies must stop."

Romney Michigan Era To End Next Monday

Pueblo Beatings Told

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — Two of the USS Pueblo's enlisted men give the first detailed accounts today of beatings suffered by crewmen during 11 months of North Korean captivity.

The intelligence ship's commanding officer, Cmdr. Lloyd Bucher, has said the North Koreans made a "studied attempt to create terror among my men and myself."

Show Abuse

At the 121st Evacuation Hospital in Seoul, where the crewmen were taken after their release, Army doctors said 20 to 30 per cent of the crew showed "some evidence of maltreatment recent enough to detect." They said one sailor, not identified, had a broken rib. Others had bruises, scars and black eyes.

The director of the U.S. Naval hospital where the 82 crewmen are staying, Rear Adm. Horace Warden, said last Thursday all of the men "have a history of physical maltreatment."

and Hayes were directed to not answer questions about the capture of the intelligence ship off North Korea last Jan. 23 or about other details of their 11-month captivity.

After Bucher's first statements about the beatings, President Johnson ordered an investigation. Part of the investigation was released over the weekend in Washington. It told of statements by Bucher that North Korean threats to kill his crew one by one contributed to his signing of so-called confessions which said the Pueblo was in North Korea-claimed waters when it was taken.

Resignation To Take Cabinet Post Expected

LANSING (AP) — Call it the changing of the guard, or call it the end of an era. The all-but-final departure of Gov. George Romney after six years in the statehouse ranks among the top Lansing news stories of 1968.

Romney, virtually certain to resign late next Monday and turn over the government to Lt. Gov. William Milliken, was, of course, named secretary of housing and urban development in the administration of President-elect Nixon.

The move has governmental and political implications which will largely shape capital developments in the coming year.

But there were other major developments in the seat of Michigan's government...

Democratic Sweep

The same Nov. 5 election which headed Nixon toward the White House, Romney toward Washington and Milliken toward the top state job, also yielded a Democratic sweep in Michigan. Democrats seized the State House of Representatives, put all eight of their education board candidates into office and saw their man oust a Republican-can-nominated incumbent from the State Supreme Court.

Two major bond issues totaling $435 million were approved by voters during 1968 while a proposal to legalize graduated income taxes was rejected. Daylight Savings Time apparently was rejected, but we won't know for sure until completion of a recount next month.

Getting the word from the U.S. Supreme Court, Michigan's judiciary ordered one-man, one-vote reapportionment for the state's 83 counties, creating a glut of lawsuits and headaches for elections officials.

Court Size

The State Supreme Court got smaller during the year while the State Court of Appeals got bigger. The Legislature added three appellate judges, making 12, while the high court shrank from eight justices to seven with the resignation of Theodore Souris, a Democrat.

Under the State Constitution, the Supreme Court vacancy was

Business, Labor Asked To Curb Prices, Wages

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson's top economic advisers have marked their last days in office by calling on business and labor to make "mutual short-term sacrifices" by accepting new guide lines for voluntary wage and price restraints.

In a report to President Johnson Sunday, the Cabinet Committee on Price Stability recommended that the six-year-old guide posts of 3.2 per cent increases be boosted in 1969 to "a little less than 5 per cent" for wages and that price hikes be kept at about the same level as 1968.

Absorb Costs

The report also suggested that business absorb the first 1 per cent in costs without increasing prices to the consumer. Prices on consumer goods increased more than 4 per cent in 1968, the report noted.

There was no immediate reaction from business and labor, both of which generally ignored the 3.2 per cent guide lines set by the Kennedy administration in 1962.

Nixon Not Told

The future of the guide lines remains in doubt, anyway, since the Nixon administration may have its own ideas on how to cope with the wage-price spiral.

Jequirity Beans

JACKSON (AP) — Nearly 600 of the highly poisonous jequirity beans were turned in to Jackson-area authorities over the weekend. Friday three residents surrendered a total of 520 of the beans which they discovered on necklaces and other jewelry.

Saturday, Mary Shepard of Horton turned in 60 of the beans to Jackson County sheriff's deputies.

She said she had become suspicious of a brownish-red necklace after hearing publicity about the deadly beans.

To prepare for Vietnam policy decisions, Nixon has assigned his top diplomatic and security aides to draw up an account of various alternatives which could be adopted.

Negotiations

That assignment went to Secretary of State-designate William P. Rogers, Secretary of Defense-designate Melvin R. Laird and Dr. Henry A. Kissinger, Nixon's assistant for national security affairs.

The aide said such messages would go to U.S. negotiators at the Paris peace talks, to the U.S. Embassy in Saigon, and to military commanders in the field.

After receiving those options, instead of a consensus-style policy paper, the aide said, Nixon can scan all the possibilities before deciding on his administration's course.

KEY BISCAYNE, Fla. (AP) — President-elect Nixon is expected to dispatch written Vietnam policy instructions to U.S. diplomats and military commanders soon after he takes office Jan. 20.

A top Nixon adviser said these instructions would define the role of the new administration and outline specific measures required to achieve them.

The aide said such messages would go to U.S. negotiators at the Paris peace talks, to the U.S. Embassy in Saigon, and to military commanders in the field.

After receiving those options, instead of a consensus-style policy paper, the aide said, Nixon can scan all the possibilities before deciding on his administration's course.

Escanaba Up 14.4%:

Air Passenger Gain Greatest In U. P.

By CLINT DUNATHAN

Escanaba Municipal Airport, which will be ready for jet air service by mid-1969, shows the greatest gain in the volume of air passengers in the Upper Peninsula for the first 11 months of this year, reports North Central Airlines.

But it is problematical whether Escanaba will be "the first" on North Central's list of cities in the region to get DC-9's.

Fact is that very probably there will not be a single city that will be first, for the jet service will not be started until at least two Upper Peninsula cities are ready for it.

Need Two Fields

David E. Moran, vice president traffic and sales, said that North Central has "an eye on the entire project" of airport development in the U.P. Asked if North Central will start jets at Escanaba when the municipal airport is ready by mid-1969, Moran replied:

"That's a tough question. North Central wants to put on DC-9's as soon as a field is ready for them, but Escanaba by itself could not originate enough passengers for a 99-passenger plane."

"Generally speaking, as soon as two fields are ready for DC-9's we will put them on. For example, suppose Escanaba, Marquette and Iron Mountain are developing airport facilities to meet jet requirements — as soon as any two of them are ready, the DC-9's will be started. We want to get into the Upper Peninsula as soon as possible," Moran added.

Nationally the air industry trend is up about 16 per cent this year and the "entire Upper Peninsula is blossoming with more air traffic," Moran noted.

Escanaba Ahead

Escanaba now has a new airport terminal building completed and ready to put into use when the approaches and taxiways are completed next spring. The extension of the west and of the east-west runway to provide the additional runway length for jets could not be completed this year and will be finished in the spring of 1969.

Plans are being made for a community-wide celebration marking the dedication of the new facilities on the Fourth of July next summer.

When Escanaba does get jet planes, North Central will not reduce the number of flights although the larger planes will carry almost twice the loads of the Convairs presently operating in and out of Escanaba.

Escanaba now has three Convair flights daily. One of these could be expected to be replaced by a DC-9 when that time comes, thus increasing the total passenger capacity. But the number of flights will not be reduced.

Largest Gain

Moran reported on the number of passengers originating at seven U.P. cities in the first 11 months of 1968, with comparison for the same period last year, and the percentage of gain. He noted that one of the factors favorable to Escanaba

Nixon And Negroes

One of the biggest problems of the Nixon Administration is its relationship to America's blacks.

They didn't cotton to Richard Nixon in his campaign for the Presidency and they don't cotton to him now.

All Americans should be concerned with the fairness of the position of the President-elect and with that of the nation's Negroes, and with what can be done to make the relationship effective.

John Osborne, writing on "Nixon and the Blacks" in the lefty New Republic stated: "When I and other campaign reporters challenged the Nixon staff with our suspicion that a subtle effort to discourage the attendance of Negroes accounted for their glaring absence, we met bland indifference tinged with mild irritation. The odd thing about this non-response is that there was a serious effort on Mr. Nixon's behalf made among black Americans."

"By comparison with the energy and money expended on the campaign proper, it was piddling, but it cost at least three times the corresponding amount spent for Vice President Humphrey. At the peak in October, more than 40 blacks were employed — vs. none at all for Humphrey. Space and time bought in 'Negro' newspapers and on 'Negro' radio and TV stations far exceeded the Humphrey outlay."

"With that said, however, it may fairly be added that the Nixon organization did not want this part of the Nixon campaign to be reported because of their assumption that publicity about it might diminish his main appeal to the white electorate and particularly his appeal to the portion of the electorate in the border South and elsewhere, that he strove with some success to draw away from George Wallace."

"The purpose of the hidden Nixon campaign was less to win votes than to identify him with black Americans as a prospective President who really had their interests at heart and, once in office, could be trusted to govern the country fairly and effectively. So say Mr. Nixon's campaign assistants, white and black."

A week after Mr. Nixon introduced his all-white cabinet to the nation on TV some 350 black officeholders toasted President Lyndon Johnson's farewell at the Federal City Club in Washington. The assemblage included a Supreme Court justice and a cabinet member, an ambassador and dozens of lesser bureaucrats.

A civil rights leader observed that President Johnson had desegregated the federal government at the highest levels and that, for no good reason, Nixon had resegregated it. "The judgment undoubtedly did an injustice to Nixon's command team, who are trying to the point of ostentation to recruit Negro officials and otherwise to certify their credentials to black America," said Newsweek. "But the charge suggests the breadth of the credibility gap that still separates the President-elect from the black ninth of the nation."

"The stubborn fact remains that Negro leaders, moderate and militant alike, simply do not believe in Richard Nixon, and, however good his intentions, nothing he has done thus far has diminished their doubts or softened their anxieties about him."

"I give him the benefit of the doubt" says Whitney M. Young, Jr., head of the Urban League and he seems to speak for Negro leadership at this time. Roy Wilkins, of the National Association for Advancement of Colored People, says "what matters now is whether the men named (to the Nixon cabinet) are likely to discharge their duties with due attention to the needs of black citizens. On paper, the one least likely to understand the Negro situation is John Mitchell, the new attorney general.

"It is hard to see how a Wall Street lawyer can appreciate the police and courtroom hocus-pocus which snuffs out the liberties and lives of many hapless citizens each year."

"George Romney as secretary of housing and urban development is likely to bring from Michigan a devotion to fair housing. This is an area where black people hurt and Romney could help them . . ."

Even less liked than Mitchell by Negro leaders is Democrat Daniel P. Moynihan, Nixon's choice for head of his new cabinet level Urban Affairs Council. Moynihan, the nation's best known urbanologist, suggests that Negro family life has come apart and made a big contribution to Negro poverty. The Negroes resent the suggestion, now amply documented by fact.

Mr. Nixon had a big problem getting elected. He barely made it. Whether he can govern with such a narrow mandate may be questioned, but those who question it must note that he got more votes than Mr. Humphrey or Mr. Wallace and was the popular choice.

He faces huge problems and the whole free world's security rides on their solution. If American Negroes have the nation's welfare at heart they will give Mr. Nixon a chance and the support he merits. He is in position to help black Americans more than any other person, but he will want to do it in a context of what's good for all Americans and black militancy won't prevail where sense cannot.

School KO Hurts Youngstown, Ohio

HIGH SCHOOL PRINCIPAL Clemens Siembieda sells men's furnishings while waiting for the Youngstown schools to reopen. An educator for 19 years, Siembieda says the futures of many students have been seriously affected by the closing.

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio — (NEA)—John Hart wants to go to college so that he can study data processing, the first step in carving out a career in the complicated world of computation.

his college education, but he'd rather be back in school. The closing, he says, "is holding me back in my algebra." Other students, he adds, accepted the closing as "just a long vacation." Johns says, "It bothers me considerably."

It also bothers Clemens Siembieda, whose present occupation is selling men's furnishings at McKevey's. Until the day before Thanksgiving, he was principal of the 670-pupil Grant Elementary School.

Holder of a master's degree and a teacher for 19 years, Siembieda resents the layoff, even if it is temporary.

He resents it because of its effect on the students. "They're the ones being hurt by all this, especially the juniors and seniors in the high schools," he says. "We need more money just to catch up, not stay even or get ahead. Some of our texts are 10 to 15 years old.

One of our science text books, for example, predicts that 'someday we will put a man into space.'

Zinser says he hopes that what is happening here will have at least some benefits, that other communities faced with similar problems will profit from Youngstown's experience.

On Nov. 5, the city's voters rejected a 12-mill school tax levy, either by voting against it or by ignoring the issue completely. Of the almost 60,000 that voted that day, more than 5,200 failed to mark levy ballots.

Most of the teachers found interim work; most of the students didn't. To keep idle grade and high schoolers occupied, the city, churches and various civic and service organizations instituted educational and recreational programs; two local theaters provided free movies twice a week; area steel plants, a bakery and the police and fire departments offered tours through their facilities.

John Hart, 16, a quiet, polite, 187-pound, 6-foot-2½-and-growing high school junior was one of the lucky students. He got a job—on referral by one of his teachers—at the G. M. McKevey Co. department store here where he works as a bus boy in the employee's cafeteria.

levy was the sixth such proposal to go down to defeat at the polls in two years.

This resistance to any increase comes mainly from property owners (approximately 85 per cent of the city's residents own their own homes and some of them are retirees living on fixed incomes), says Zinser. Another factor, he notes, is a lack of backing from organized labor, which cuts a wide swath in Youngstown.

"They just aren't familiar with the economic facts of life of running a school system," he says. "We need more money just to catch up, not stay even or get ahead. Some of our texts are 10 to 15 years old. One of our science text books, for example, predicts that 'someday we will put a man into space.'

Oswald:

"Our telephone bridge match against Mrs. Claire Stone and Mrs. Clarence Bailey of Champaign, Ill., represents a first in bridge history."

Jim: "The idea was that of Dick Baker of the Champaign Urbana Courier. All pairs in the area competed and the winners played an eight-hand telephone match against us. The match was not intended to prove anything because we simply played eight hands, but a large audience in Illinois watched the ladies put up quite a game against us. They actually beat us by 280 points but they had somewhat the better of the cards and we don't feel disgraced."

Oswald: "The ladies played North and South but for purposes of these articles we will shift the hands so that South will always be declarer."

Jim: "Mrs. Bailey and I were sort of left out of high cards on hand No. 1. Mrs. Stone chose to open one club instead of one no-trump and as a result you wound up playing one no-trump."

Oswald: "Mrs. Stone had to lead something and she made the slightly unfortunate choice of the six of spades. Had she opened a heart I would have been held to two no-trump. As it was, I managed to make three odd for what would have been a very good score at match point duplicate."

Jim: "The hand turned out to be a series of end plays. You kept putting Mrs. Stone in and she never had a decent lead."

Oswald: "Let's leave it to our readers to work out the whole play. The bidding is quite interesting in that many players would open Mrs. Stone's hand with one no-trump. They would consider three 10s and one nine enough extra value to warrant this bid in spite of only 15 high card points."

Jim: "We'll never know what would have happened had Mrs. Stone made this bid. I am not going to embarrass you by asking what you would have done if one no-trump had been passed around to you."

'Bebe' Robozo, Nixon's Side-Kick

KEY BISCAYNE, Fla. (AP) — The press spokesman for President-elect Nixon reads from a list those who would attend a national security briefing, including Secretary of State-designate William P. Rogers and Secretary of Defense-designate Melvin R. Laird.

"Isn't Robozo going to be there?" asked a reporter.

"I don't think so," replied Allen Woods, the Nixon spokesman.

There would be no surprise if Charles Gregory Robozo—known since childhood as "Bebe"—had been included at the councils.

Since 1951, Robozo has been Nixon's companion for fishing, Bahamian relaxation, working vacations and excursions to Tijuana, Mexico.

Delve In Real Estate

Nixon also has followed Robozo's lead in buying real estate. The President-elect holds $350,000 worth of Fisher Island in Miami Harbor, an overgrown 121 acres just south of Miami Beach which Robozo once offered for sale at $5.75 million. Nixon also owns two undeveloped Key Biscayne lots worth $51,382, has just bought a $127,700 home two doors up the street from Robozo's and is negotiating to buy the one in between from Sen. George Smathers, D-Fla.

Robozo, 56, was born in Tampa, the youngest of nine children. His parents were from Havana. He's now president of Key Biscayne bank but has worked as a chicken-plucker, gas station attendant and newspaper delivery boy. He invested $25 from his paper route in a Florida lot and lost it in the depression.

Met In 1951

In recent years Robozo has further diversified his interests and now is associated with an all-Cuban Key Biscayne shopping center, a Key West title abstract company and other ventures.

He was introduced to Nixon in 1951 by Smathers while Nixon was looking for a spot to rest after his successful U.S. Senate campaign against Helen Gahagan Douglas.

Rebozo had become so close to the Nixons by the 1960 election day that the two men drove to Tijuana to relax while the nation went to the polls. Then Robozo sat with Mrs. Nixon and the children in their hotel suite as the votes were counted.

Like Quiet

After returning from Los Angeles Robozo told a reporter that neither Mrs. Nixon nor the girls had been prepared for the depression.

M. Hamady Dies

FLINT (AP) — Michael Hamady, 84-year-old founder of the Hamady Brothers food store chain, died Sunday at his Flint home following a long illness. A native of Lebanon, Hamady founded the food store chain in the Flint area in 1911. His great-nephew, Jack, now is president of the firm. Funeral services for relatives and close friends only will be Tuesday, followed by burial near Flint. Survivors include a daughter-in-law, two grandsons and three great-grandsons.

NEW YORK (AP) — The most dramatic moments of television in 1968 came not in its news coverage.

Television cameras permitted a nation to share in the tragedy of two assassinations; to react to disturbances on city streets; to see war and fighting men in close-up, and to glory in an adventure that took men around the moon.

It was a year in which most Americans attended, through television, the funeral services of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. We shared the vigil outside the hospital where Sen. Robert F. Kennedy lay dying. We saw the President of the United States as he told us he would not seek re-election. And television took us through every step of the complicated and sometimes turbulent process that led to the election of his successor.

Cover Astronauts

The nation and the world are still marveling at the way television permitted us to follow the astronauts a quarter-million miles into space and back.

Television also presented thoughtful and thought-provoking documentaries on the problems of the Negro and the troubles of the cities. A report on hunger in America was a shocker. Day in and day out we saw the agony of Vietnam. And there was baseball, hockey, basketball, golf and football and more football.

There were some especially happy events on the entertainment side. There was, for instance, that fine adaptation of the stage play, "A Case of Libel," some absorbing original drama, including "The People Next Door." Vladimir Horowitz was presented in a glorious hour of music and we saw Barbra Streisand giving a concert in Central Park. There were many more.

Laugh-In

A slam-bang, fast-paced comedy hour made its debut last January and soon "Laugh-In" had become the nation's most popular weekly program. A situation comedy with two attractive Negro performers, Diahann Carroll and Marc Copage, made its debut in September and soon "Julia" was the season's most solid hit.

possibility of their man's defeat by John F. Kennedy. That is the only recorded moment when Rebozo gave information about the Nixons.

The closest Rebozo has come since to discussing his hours with Nixon was a general comment included in an October interview with the Miami Herald, Rebozo's only interview since Nixon began running again.

"We do some fishing, some swimming and a lot of sunbathing. And we work, too. Dick takes along his briefcase and I take mine. We both like quiet surroundings, and he especially finds the atmosphere of Biscayne Bay a good place to think," he said.

Is Straight

"We just hit it off, I guess," Rebozo said of their friendship.

"His ability to keep secrets is only one reason why a man like Dick Nixon would take such a liking to Bebe," said a Rebozo friend.

"But I think the most important reason for their friendship is that Bebe is a person without guile and without angles," the friend said. "Bebe would never ask anything for himself. He's one of the fastest check grabbers you've ever seen. He's the kind of guy who enjoys spending $100 to entertain his friends in an evening, but who would spend a whole night looking for a one-dollar bookkeeping error."

hints from Heloise

By HELOISE CRUSE

Dear Heloise:

I'm holding my baby with one hand and writing with the other, but I had to let you know about the discoveries I have been making lately.

Second only to your fabulous nylon net and empty bleach bottles are those little margarine tubs with the plastic lids.

Honestly, Heloise, I use them all through the house:

In the sewing box they hold my needles, tape measure and buttons.

In the kitchen drawer they keep together all those little things that are forever getting lost in the shuffle: Corn-on-the-cob holders, twists from the bread wrappers, etc.

In the bedroom there is one for my hair clips and one for lipstick and eye makeup.

In the nursery they hold baby's pacifier, teething ring and diaper pins.

In hubby's lunch box they carry tomato slices, canned fruit or pickles.

Elsewhere they serve as containers for paper clips, screws, nails—just about any small item you can think of.

Best of all, they come in a variety of pretty colors and if one is really particular, the writing on the lid can be removed with a scouring pad.

Troubled Shakedown For Queen Liz 2

ABOARD THE QUEEN ELIZABETH (AP) — Britannia's newest ocean pride, the liner Queen Elizabeth 2, steamed homeward at half speed today amid a growing roar over her trouble-filled shakedown cruise.

The Cunard Line announced it had refused to accept delivery of the 65,000-ton ship, which cost $69.8 million, until the builders cleared up "thermal expansion" problems in the ship's two turbine engines and completed their work in the passenger and service areas.

Making 14 knots, the liner was expected to reach Southampton Thursday. The repairs are expected to take at least three weeks, and Sir Basil Smallpeice, Cunard's chairman, canceled a warmup four-day cruise Jan. 10 and the new Queen's maiden transatlantic voyage to New York on Jan. 17.

Government Arguing

More than 3,000 persons had been booked for the two trips.

In Britain, demands increased for a government inquiry into the QE2's troubles. About two thirds of her construction costs were paid from government loans. Newspaper commentators all agreed the ship's faults went beyond the troubles expected on any shakedown cruise.

The public wants a complete account of what went wrong, how it happened and where the blame is to be laid," said the Daily Express.

The Daily Telegraph commented: "For an acceptance trial to be failed by a ship of such prestige must be unprecedented in modern times."

The liner left the Clyde shipyard in Scotland last month for speed trials during which it developed an oil leak that forced cancellation of a Christmas charity cruise.

Running Rough

It sailed Dec. 23 from Greenock, Scotland for a 10-day shakedown cruise to the Canary Islands. Aboard were 500 Cunard employees and their families to test the ship's facilities and 250 workmen who were to complete outfitting of the vessel.

Engine trouble developed Christmas Eve, when the starboard high pressure turbine started running rough. The rotors in the turbines were found to be out of balance, a fault that was later detected in the port turbine as well. Speed was reduced immediately.

Smallpeice and Anthony Hepper, chairman of the Upper Clyde Shipbuilders, which built the QE2, flew out to the liner Saturday. They conferred through the night, and at a Sunday morning news conference, Smallpeice announced the decision not to accept delivery.

Below Standards

He said the general unreliability of the QE2 "would not only prevent the ship carrying its full complement of passengers but would allow no chance to reach Cunard standards."

"In no circumstances is Cunard prepared to said QE2 on a commercial voyage until they are satisfied that they can maintain their standards," Sir Basil declared.

"The timing may be arid, but when she's ready this will still be the most wonderful ship in the world."

John Whitworth, Cunard's managing director, told newsmen he was confident his company would accept the QE2 after the repairs and another shakedown cruise late in January.

Fear 70 Dead In Rockslide

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP) — About 70 persons were feared dead today after tons of rock, loosened by rain and repeated dynamite blasts, fell 300 feet into a quarry and carried a section of shantytown with it.

Eye witnesses said as many as 26 shacks fell to destruction when the quarry rim collapsed Sunday but firemen placed the number at 10 to 15. Rescuers found only one survivor, a 3-year-old boy. Eight bodies had been recovered by Sunday night.

QUEEN ELIZABETH 2, pictured in Scotland's River Clyde when she was undergoing final fittings before sea trials, was homeward bound today from a trouble-filled shakedown cruise with the owner, the Cunard Line, refusing to accept delivery of the $69.8 million vessel until the builders cleared up turbine engine trouble and finished work in the passenger and service areas. The big ship's first transatlantic voyage is scheduled Jan. 17. (Cunard Line Photo)

Milk Support Price Extended

CHICAGO (AP) — A top Ford Motor Co. official Sunday proposed establishment of a permanent National Goals Institute to keep track of America's needs and its ability to meet them.

Arjay Miller, Ford's vice-chairman, told a combined session of the American Finance

Association and the American Economics Association such an institute could issue annual reports listing goals, what they would cost and pointing out "the gap between the total cost of our goals and our ability to pay."

"General recognition of this gap," he said, "would be valuable because it would open the eyes of those who believe that our problem is over-production or that everything is possible in what is sometimes called our 'economy of abundance.'"

Miller called for the institute to be staffed by permanent, full-time professionals from such fields as the behavioral sciences, economics, engineering, urban planning and medicine.

The support price for manufacturing milk for the marketing year which begins April 1, 1969, will be $4.28 for milk of average milkfat content (approximately 3.7 per cent). This is 87 per cent of the latest parity equivalent price published in late November. The law provides for support at prices between 75 and 90 per cent of parity as of the beginning of the marketing year.

The specific prices at which Commodity Credit Corp. will buy butter, Cheddar cheese and nonfat dry milk in order to carry out the support will be announced later.

Under the federal order program, Freeman's action will continue fluid milk prices (Class I) to dairy farmers at their present levels after April 1969, when a temporary 20-cent increase and a basic formula floor price granted last year for 67 markets is due to expire.

Freeman said he is terminating the April 30, 1969 expiration date, which provided for the price increases through April. In effect, the action will make prices set by the orders permanent, instead of temporary, at their present levels.

The price action includes a continuation of the 20-cent increase in the Class I price differentials now in effect and the minimum basic formula price of $4.33 a hundredweight (3.5 per cent milk fat content).

The sea cucumber has a well-developed sense of touch, but it is relatively insensitive to light.

Residents said the hut was used by teen-agers as a clubhouse.

The victims—all believed to be boys—were not identified.

Felix A. Savage Jr., manager of Brink's Boston office, said "as near as I can ascertain the total (taken) will be in the area of $800,000.

Wives Shoot Up Husbands

DETROIT (AP) — One husband was killed and three wounded in weekend Detroit shooting. Three wives are held, another sought.

Police quoted Mrs. Karen Dial, 21, as saying she shot her estranged husband, Gregory, 25, when he grabbed her as she was leaving her home about 12:15 a.m. Sunday. Dial was killed.

Edward Ellis, 38, was in critical condition at Receiving Hospital with a gunshot wound in the stomach. Ellis was quoted by police as saying his wife, Bobbie, 35, shot him in the climax to a family argument Sunday.

Zack M. Boyce, 35, was wounded in the right shoulder and buttocks in what police said was a family argument Sunday with his wife, Maxine, 29.

Clarence Watts, 38, was treated for gunshot wounds in his left foot and wrist after what also was described by police as a family argument. His wife, Inez, 40, is sought.

Youths Charged After Car Hits Police Patrol

One young man is in the Delta County jail and another is at liberty on bond after their appearance in Municipal Court in connection with events that began when a car driven by one of the youths struck a police patrol car and failed to stop.

The accident occurred in the 100 block, N. 22nd St., at 11:09 p.m. Sunday and police pursued and arrested the driver, Keith R. Bucklund, 21, of Escanaba Rte. 1. He is charged with improper backing and leaving the scene of a property damage accident and is held in jail.

Dale L. Derouin, 19, of Schaffer, who with two juveniles were passengers in the Buckland car, is charged with being a minor in possession of beer. He is at liberty on $50 bond.

Later last night police also issued to Derouin a summons for speeding.

Burglarize Homes

LYONS TOWNSHIP (AP) — Thieves carted off all the furniture at a vacant home in Lyons Township of Ionia County over the weekend, as State Police said it was among 50 or 60 such incidents in the western Michigan area in the last year.

State Police said the well-furnished home that was burglarized belonged to Glendon Archer of Lake Odessa.

not filled—leaving the court permanently at seven members. The uneven number, it was hoped, will result in fewer court deadlocks.

Democrats carried Michigan for Hubert Humphrey and their slate of 21 electors cast the state's electoral vote for the vice president. But elector Zoltan Ferency, a backer of Sen. Eugene McCarthy, balked at voting for Humphrey and resigned from the Electoral College.

Leadership Fight

Democrats returned from the stormy national convention at Chicago bitterly divided. Skillful managing by State Party Chairman Sander Levin helped put them back together at the fall state convention in Grand Rapids.

Winning the State House split the chamber's Democratic caucus three ways momentarily in a leadership fight. But this month the new majority party took a step toward unity, rallying behind their leader — Rep. William Ryan of Detroit—and a balanced leadership slate representing all the major party factions.

Secretary of State James Hare, before the Chicago convention, purged his staff of aides who wouldn't support Humphrey.

Before the November election he issued an impassioned warning that radical groups might use violence to disrupt the election. Romney and Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley hastened to undercut him. There was no violence election day, and Hare said his warning was partly responsible.

Non-Public School Aid

The Legislature approved several pieces of significant legislation. They reorganized the state's lower court system, outlawed racial and religious discrimination in housing and legalized Sunday liquor sales, to name a few.

They also kept in committee a measure which would have given an estimated $21 million in state money to parents with children in nonpublic schools, even though backers of the measure deluged some of them with mail. That issue will return in 1969.

Romney and Kelley petitioned for and got a one-man grand jury probe of the State Highway Department, accused of making large and illegal payments in the past to favored contractors.

Juror Marvin Salmon, an Ingomar County circuit judge, this month gave his investigation a six-month extension. There have been no indictments to date.

Brucker Dies

Notable deaths during the year included former Republican Gov. Wilber Brucker, veteran State Rep. Charles Davis, R-Onondaga, retired state high school athletic director Charles Forsythe and executive director Don Weeks of the Greater Michigan Foundation.

Voters approved a new state commission to set salaries of top state officers. The nine-member body rejected pay raise proposals, but voted expense allowances which could total $400,000 a year.

Lawmakers created a state insurance pool for riot-threatened areas, passed a host of anticrime and antiriot bills, set up procedures for aiding school districts which go broke, ordered fluoridation of most drinking water, and authorized impoundment of the cars of those who drive without licenses.

Planning for a new capital building continued. Traffic fatalities set an all-time state record. Lansing trucking executive Howard Sober offered his $260,000 home as a gift to the state for use as an executive mansion.

Enormous Appetite

The common shrew, contrary to popular belief, is not blind though its small eyes are almost concealed by fur. It feeds almost continuously because of its rapid metabolic rate and is said to consume its own weight in food every three hours, according to the Encyclopaedia Britannica.

Harry F. Dever, Historian, Dies

Funeral services were held at the Quinlan Funeral Home at Sault Ste. Marie at 1:30 p.m. Saturday with burial in Cedar Cemetery, Cedarville, Mackinac County for Harry F. Dever of Cedarville, who died on Dec. 26 in War Memorial Hospital, Sault Ste. Marie.

Mr. Dever was born in Detroit, April 29, 1899 and had lived at Cedarville for four years after a long residence at Mount Pleasant.

Dever was an amateur historian and he caused a flurry a few years ago with an article in the Michigan Historical Magazine charging that the historians had gotten off the track in interpreting the Jesuit Relations and that Jean Nicolet had not canoed from Georgian Bay into Lake Michigan but rather to Lake Superior.

Nicolet is generally believed to have been the first white man on Lake Michigan in 1634.

Dever, who was wed to an Indian, said the historians had erred grossly in Indian history.

He is survived by his widow, Eva, two sons, James of Milwaukee, Ill., a daughter, Patricia Conrad of Toledo and four stepsons, Sam Shenoskey and Edward Shenoskey of Grand Rapids and Richard Shenoskey and Steve Shenoskey of Farmington.

Czech Cardinal Living In Rome

PRAGUE (AP) — Josef Cardinal Beran, the Roman Catholic primate of Czechoslovakia, is now living in Rome. But the Communist-controlled press here gave wide publicity to his 80th birthday Sunday.

The articles, which included a biography, followed an open letter in the Saturday edition of the newspaper Lidová Demokracie asking the Ministry of Culture to invite the cardinal to return to Czechoslovakia.

Cardinal Beran, named archbishop of Prague in 1946, was put in prison and later under house arrest after the Communist takeover in 1948. He was allowed to leave the country four years ago.

Colts, Jets Snare League Championships

Baltimore Tops Cleveland 34-0 In NFL Title Contest

CLEVELAND (AP) — "I was in New York, you know. I heard a lot about Joe Namath and the Jets. I am anxious to play against him."

Earl Morrall, Baltimore's rags-to-riches quarterback, was talking in the Colts' locker room Sunday after they had wiped out Cleveland 34-0 to move into a Super Bowl date with the New York Jets on Jan. 12 at Miami.

It was Morrall's happiest day, capping many years of frustration by adding the National Football League title to his own Most Valuable Player honors after bouncing from San Francisco to Pittsburgh to Detroit to New York to Baltimore in 13 years as a pro.

"It should be interesting to play against the Jets and against Namath," commented linebacker Mike Curtis, who intercepted a Bill Nelsen pass in the rout. "I won't look at him any different than I do any other quarterback."

Bubba Smith, the huge defensive end who blocked a 42-yard field goal attempt by Don Cockroft, was asked if he had received any last minute advice from his mother, an avid fan.

"She told me to hit 'em high, hit 'em low and get ready for the Super Bowl," said big Bubba, who suffered a sprained left ankle in the first half but came back for the second.

Coach Don Shula of the Colts, who lived four years with the humiliation of the 27-0 beating by Cleveland in the 1964 title game, was on cloud nine.

"I feel just wonderful," he said. "We've been a frustrated team for a long time but we're not frustrated now. I am looking forward to playing the Jets. I am particularly happy for

Bruins Rally To Tie Wings In NHL Clash

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit Red Wings lost their head of steam and were almost rail-roaded to defeat by the Boston Bruins Sunday night.

The Bruins stormed back from a three-goal deficit in the second period to tie the Wings in the National Hockey League game at Olympic Stadium.

Detroit, which has only won one of its last six games, got first period goals from Dean Prentiss and Ron Harris and an early third-period counter from Garry Unger to take what appeared to be a commanding lead. But Boston's talented center Phil Esposito set up three straight Bruin goals, two of them by Ken Hodge, to spark the comeback and keep the Wings mired in last place in the league's Eastern Division.

Detroit goalkeeper Roy Edwards made a fine save on an Esposito drive, but Hodge poked in the rebound at the 5:29 mark of the second period to start the Bruin resurgence. The goal came on a power play and was Hodge's 12th of the season.

Just 27 seconds later rookie Grant Erickson, called up from Oklahoma City because of a string of injuries to regulars, scored his first NHL goal by backhanding the puck over a mob of fallen Red Wings. Esposito also assisted on that one.

The tying goal came at 12:47 of the period when Esposito and Hodge worked on a two-on-one breakaway, with Esposito feeding the puck across to Hodge who laid it in for a picture-play goal.

Bruins Triumph; Tarheels Upset

By The Associated Press

John Wooden might be a little disappointed with Lew Alcindor, but not Lou Carneseca, who thinks his St. John's team has about as much chance against Alcindor and UCLA as it did against North Carolina.

Before the Redmen met the second-ranked Tar Heels, Carneseca told a friend he only hoped his team didn't lose by 40 or 50 points. Then St. John's went out and pulled off one of the nine top-ranked teams will be in action. The only one missing is Notre Dame, No. 7, which does not participate in bowl games.

The rest of the schedule has Penn State, No. 3, 10-0, vs. Kansas, No. 6, 9-1, in the Orange Bowl at Miami; Georgia, No. 4, 8-0-2, vs. Arkansas, No. 9, 9-1, in the Sugar Bowl at New Orleans; and Texas, No. 5, 8-1-1, vs. Tennessee, No. 8, 8-1-1, in the Cotton Bowl at Dallas.

The Colts' complete defense simply blanketed the Browns, whose only offensive spurts were marred by penalties. Leroy Kelly, the two-time rushing champ of the league, was shackled with 28 yards and that just about tells the story of the game watched by 80,628 chilled fans at Cleveland's snow-fringed stadium.

In addition to shutting off Kelly, who gained more than 100 yards seven times in 14 regular season games, the Colts had interceptions by Rick Volk and Curtis, a blocked field goal by Bubba Smith, a fumble recovery by Don Shinnick and four smears of the Cleveland passer.

The Colts had suffered through three near-misses in four seasons, starting with a 27-0 walloping at the hands of the Browns in the 1964 championship game.

They ran up and down the field like they were playing a barbers' college," muttered Alabama Coach Paul "Bear" Bryant after fired-up Missouri had humiliated the favored Crimson Tide 35-10 in the Gator Bowl at Jacksonville, Fla.

The stunner—one of four games Saturday that ushered in the long, long weekend of bowl games—was the worst post-season licking ever administered Alabama, which was making a record 22nd bowl appearance.

The bowls continue tonight with Louisiana State, 7-3, playing Florida State, 8-2, in the Peach Bowl at Atlanta. Oklahoma, 7-3 and winding up with a flurry, plays Southern Methodist, also 7-3, in the Bluebonnet Bowl at Houston Tuesday before the Big Four climax the season Wednesday, New Year's Day.

Topping that card, of course, is rugged, top-ranked Ohio State, 9-0, vs. Southern California Heisman Trophy-winner O. J. Simpson in the Rose Bowl.

Southern Cal., 9-0-1, tied by Notre Dame in the last regular season game, is ranked No. 2 and will be seeking to regain the top spot.

Varying Hare Supports Chain Of Wild Carnivores

By LEE SMITS

We had a remarkable assortment of dogs that winter. Working breeds were represented by three utility sled dogs. We also snowshoe to hounds—that is, one hound, a graceful, long-legged animal, a blend of breeds, but all hound, plus two airedales that lived in their lodges and ate rabbits.

Because people in the north think of the varying hare as a rabbit, and use no other term in relation to the animal, it is only natural to ignore the scientific nomenclature and say "rabbit", meaning the snowshoe or varying hare, russet brown in summer, show white in winter with oversized feet, which gave it the snowshoe part of its name.

The varying hare is the bread-and-butter species supporting a chain of predators.

The hare is subject to periodical die-offs, occurring about every eight years. Books of the Hudson Bay Co. show that a die-off of hare is followed by a drastic falling off in the catch of certain fur-bearers, particularly lynx.

There are two biological zones within the boundaries of the two peninsulas. The southern zone is known as the Carolinian; the northern is designated as "Canadian". The varying hare belongs in the Canadian zone. In pioneer times, the varying hare was found as far south as Lansing.

The ferry Badger, captained by Edward Ashenbrunner, left Ludington again Sunday in another attempt to reach Milwaukee, Wis., after the storm died down.

The Badger carried seven passengers and a crew of 25 to 30 men when it left Ludington Saturday at 1:35 p.m. Two of the passengers were injured slightly in the attempted crossing as winds whipped up to about 50 knots.

One of the 22 railroad boxcars on board was tipped over in the howling gale, but damage was reported slight.

One unidentified passenger was quoted by port officials as saying "Equipment and people went around like ping pong balls."

The ferry finally managed to reach its home port at Ludington at 8:05 a.m. Sunday.

Another car ferry, the Midland bound for Manitowoc, Wis., turned back Saturday after three hours of fighting the stormy Lake Michigan.

Cellist At 92

SAN JUAN, P.R. (AP) — Cellist Pablo Casals celebrated his 92nd birthday Sunday and interrupted his normal daily routine long enough to go to a special Mass and accept congratulatory visits from friends.

Casals didn't skip his daily practice, however. He started the morning with a walk along the beach, played the piano for a while, then switched to his cello.

His wife, Martita, 32, said, "He's happy ... He's in very good health."

MANISTIQUE

Harbor Study Set For Council

The preliminary engineering study on the Manistique Harbor should be completed and ready for review by City Council next Friday, Ken Buckland of Northern Michigan Engineers, Escanaba, told council Friday afternoon.

Buckland met with council members in an informal session to detail the progress of his firm in completing the survey on the local harbor.

The completed survey will reveal a cost estimate for proposed harbor improvement and recommendations for the project. The survey is the first step in realizing a $200,000 harbor improvement program the city is proposing in cooperation with the Michigan Waterways Commission.

Once the survey is reviewed and accepted by the city it will be sent to the Waterways Commission for study and, hopefully, acceptance - approval. Manistique hopes to have the program approved so funding can be made by the legislature in January.

Council has scheduled a special meeting next Friday afternoon at 4:30 to review the survey.

Home-Made Plane Crashes

MOUNT PLEASANT (AP) — Lavigne Albar, 33, died today of injuries sustained Sunday when his home-made airplane crashed on takeoff from a field west of here.

Albar had been taken to Central Michigan Community Hospital for treatment of head and internal injuries and two broken legs.

Albar had christened his home-made plane, "The Albar Puddle Jumper." It was equipped with snow skis and Albar had flown it several times previously.

Three witnesses of the crash reported the plane left the ground and banked to the left, then nosed over and plunged to the ground. Albar was pinned in the wreckage for about 15 minutes before he could be freed.

The three who witnessed the crash brought Albar by snowmobile to a nearby road, where he was picked up by an ambulance.

Hospital

Admitted to Schoolcraft Memorial Hospital were Ernest Edwards, Mary Gierke and Steve Flodin.

Discharged were Richard Lemerand.

Apollo Crew Are 'Men Of Year'

NEW YORK (AP) — Time Magazine, which named an aviator as its first "Man of the Year," has selected the three Apollo 8 astronauts as the "Men of the Year" for 1968.

Charles A. Lindbergh Jr. was the outstanding individual of 1927 by the magazine for his solo flight across the Atlantic Ocean.

In citing Air Force Col. Frank Borman, Navy Capt. James A. Lovell Jr. and Air Force Lt. Col. William A. Anders, Time said 1968 will be remembered "to the end of time for the dazzling skills and Promethean daring that sent questing mortals around the moon."

NIXON INAUGURAL MEDAL will mark the first time in history that artwork created by a member of the President's family will be reproduced on the official commemorative. The reverse side of the 1969 medal will feature a sculptured miniature of the crewwork pattern Julie Nixon embroidered for her father. The design depicts the Great Seal of the United States and the words, "To RN from JN." Sculptor Ralph Menconi, left, created the medal, which will be struck in gold, silver and bronze.

Americans Leave For Siberian Hunting Trip

ORCHARD LAKE (AP) — John B. Mager interrupts

his business and polo-playing schedules today to head for what may be the first official bear-hunting trip in Siberia by Americans.

But even if the 34-year-old capitalist from the Detroit suburb of Orchard Lake doesn't bag any bears, the trip won't be a total loss. He plans to check into the practicality of importing Pakistani polo

Mager and a group of 14 other American industrialists are scheduled to leave today for the Soviet Union, where they will spend New Year's Eve as official Kremlin guests before setting out to hunt the huge Russian brown bear and the Siberian tiger.

Planned 5 Years

"I don't think any Americans have hunted there, at least since the (Russian) Revolution," he said. "Possibly some of our diplomats have been invited to hunt there."

Mager, who is president of Industrial Packaging Corp., said he heard of plans for such an expedition from a friend, Dan Jarke of Chicago.

I told him kidding that if someone canceled out I'd like to go," Mager said. Sure enough, someone did.

The trip is sponsored by Inter-Globe Associates Ltd. of San Francisco, which has been trying to get up the jaunt for five years. It finally was approved last June by Jules Luskin, director of the Soviet In tourist office in New York.

Royal Treatment

Mager, son of a retired Detroit policeman, said he has only hunted big game in North America and that "to get the Siberian tiger would be a real trophy; I think he's becoming more on the extinct side."

He said it appeared as if his group would get "the royal treatment." After leaving New York today they were to fly directly to Moscow and be guests of the Russian government at a formal reception in the Kremlin New Year's Eve.

New Year's day, Mager said, the group expects to have breakfast in the American embassy, spend the next four days sightseeing in Moscow and Leningrad, then fly 3,000 miles to Siberia.

Wave Flag

"I think they're really going to try to make some big political thing out of it for propaganda purposes," Mager said, "but I'm going to be waving the American flag the whole time I'm there."

He said he will take along four dozen American safety razors to give away as goodwill gifts.

"I've heard the Russian razors are more instruments of torture than anything else," Mager said. "Maybe I can convince some of them that not all American things are bad."

"We've all been learning Russian," he added. "I've been studying it for the last two months and probably knew about 1,000 words by now. I've got a Russian-language tape recording in my car."

Set Example

He said he thought the trip would be an excellent opportunity to set a good example for the United States.

"I think that's really the important part of the trip," he said. "They're going to take us around to some of their factories, I'm sure."

Mager said he spoke with a Russian official by phone from New York who asked, "Are you going to tell them (Russians) how you do things here?" referring to American industrial operations. "Why not," was Mager's reply.

Proper Balance

Proper self-management was stressed by Charles S. Jensen, president of C.I.T. Corp., industrial financing and leasing subsidiary of C.I.T. Financial Corp.

"Every businessman should resolve to strike a proper balance among his various responsibilities—his business, his family, his community and his other obligations," Jensen said.

Carter Inc. President Joseph Lieberman resolved to "humanize our business in such a way so that our customers will feel how grateful we are for their presence."

"It's elegant enough just to be human," the head of the Fifth Avenue jeweler said.

Cecil L. Wright, president of J.C. Penney Co., urged consumers to continue to be "demanding in quality, fashion, and service."

"This will help keep us on our toes," he said. "In case we fall short of our goals, we want to know about it."

THE LITTLE WOMAN

"We've set a new record! An hour and five minutes to go a block and a half!"

I'd expected to see the governor up at San Francisco State, piling sandbags around Hayakawa," said Bob, referring to student ripples besetting Dr. S. I. Hayakawa, acting president of San Francisco State College.

Besides Vietnam, Hope took his troupe of 21 entertainers—including starlet Ann-Margret—to Japan, Korea, Okinawa and Thailand on a 16-day tour co-sponsored by the USO and the Department of Defense.

His wife Dolores was among those on hand to welcome him back.

"I knew when I married him I'd have to share him with the world," she said.

Popular Sport

The sport of shuffleboard was popular in England as early as the 15th century, especially with the aristocracy. In fact, it is said that King Henry VIII issued a royal decree forbidding its play because it prevented the proper practice of archery, according to the Encyclopaedia Britannica.
